The Champs Elysées. The "Rotten Row" of Paris, the most fashionable promenade in the city. In this beautiful avenue is situated the Palais de l'Elysée, the official residence of the President of the Republic. The statuary on the columns which mark the entrance represent Horse Tamers, and were removed from the Chateau de Marly, once the residence of Louis XIV. The avenue presents a magnificent vista. It is nearly one and a half miles in length, and during the season is thronged with pedestrians, carriages, motor cars, and smart equipages of every description.
